Call for Papers
Focus Issue on Metabolism

Deadline for Submission: June 8, 2015
To submit an article, please go to http://submit.plantphysiol.org/

Advances in next-generation sequencing, gene and genome engineering, and sampling have had an immense impact on our understanding of metabolism. This Focus Issue on Metabolism will address these advances including, but not limited to, state-of-the-art approaches in the study of plant metabolic pathways and interactions from the molecule to the whole-plant level, and the evolution of these processes. Special attention will be paid to emerging technologies and advances that promise to accelerate our understanding of metabolism, its control, the signals that regulate metabolism, its integration within organismal signaling and response in the face of biotic and abiotic stress, its contributions to plant structure, function, and its diversity and importance within modern society.

Authors interested in contributing should indicate this in the cover letter when submitting papers online at http://submit.plantphysiol.org/. Please select “Metabolism (October 2015)” from the Focus Issue list in the online submission system. Articles published in Plant Physiology on this topic within 2 years before and after the Focus Issue publication date will be collected in an online Focus Collection on Metabolism.

Please contact Alisdair Fernie (Fernie@mpimp-golm.mpg.de) or Eran Pichersky (lelx@umich.edu) for more information.
The American Society of Plant Biologists has published The Arabidopsis Book (TAB) as a free online compendium since 2002. ASPB is providing funds for the production of TAB as a public service.

Founded by Chris Somerville and Elliot Meyerowitz, TAB now has more than 100 articles online.

The current editorial board is working hard to continue TAB's ongoing expansion:
